About Ingredients of Luxury Liv-R

Milk Thistle seed extract

Milk thistle (Silybum marianum) contains silymarin, a complex of flavonolignans that exert strong hepatoprotective effects. Silymarin stabilizes hepatocyte membranes, reduces oxidative stress, and promotes regeneration of damaged liver cells. It also enhances the activity of superoxide dismutase (SOD) and glutathione, supporting endogenous antioxidant defense systems critical for detoxification. Berberine extract – Supports bile secretion and metabolic balance

Berberine Extract

Berberine, an isoquinoline alkaloid derived from Berberis species, has been extensively researched for its ability to modulate metabolic pathways involved in lipid and glucose metabolism. It supports bile secretion, enhances hepatic detoxification enzymes, and activates AMP-activated protein kinase (AMPK), contributing to improved liver fat metabolism and insulin sensitivity.

Dandelion root extract

Dandelion (Taraxacum officinale) root is a traditional cholagogue and digestive stimulant. It enhances bile flow and supports hepatic and renal elimination of toxins. The extract exhibits mild diuretic properties, which aid in systemic detoxification, and its polyphenols contribute anti-inflammatory effects that help protect liver tissue from damage.

Turmeric rhizome extract

Curcumin, the principal curcuminoid in turmeric (Curcuma longa), possesses potent anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties. It modulates nuclear factor-kappa B (NF- κ B) pathways, reduces pro-inflammatory cytokines, and enhances hepatic glutathione production. These actions make it a valuable agent in the management of hepatic inflammation, steatosis, and fibrogenesis.

Vitamin E

As a lipid-soluble antioxidant, vitamin E plays a pivotal role in maintaining the integrity of hepatic cell membranes. It prevents lipid peroxidation induced by oxidative stress and supports the regeneration of other antioxidants, such as vitamin C and glutathione. Vitamin E supplementation has been shown to reduce hepatic inflammation and improve histological features in nonalcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD).
